

Dr. Parimal Prasad

Professor of Philosophy, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill

10110 Phillips Hall, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, NC 27599

919.919.3434

or

prasad@unc.edu

Dr. Prasad is a member of the Philosophy Department and the Center for the Study of the History of Ideas at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

919.919.3434

or

prasad@unc.edu

Dr. Prasad is a member of the Philosophy Department and the Center for the Study of the History of Ideas at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. He is also a member of the Indian Council for Cultural Relations (ICCR) and the Indian Council for Social Science Research (ICSSR). He has published several books and articles on Indian philosophy and religion. His current research interests include the philosophy of religion, the philosophy of language, and the philosophy of mind.

Dr. Prasad received his Ph.D. from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill in 2002. His primary academic interest is in the history of Philosophy in India and its relationship to contemporary issues in Philosophy, South Asian Studies, and the study of Religion. His first two books, Philosophy in India: A History (2003) and Philosophy in India: A History (2007), were published by Oxford University Press. He is also the author of several articles and book chapters on Indian philosophy and religion. He has been a visiting professor at several universities in India and abroad. He is currently a professor of Philosophy at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.